Explanatory notes

As specified in this notice, an ancillary report must be provided to the regulator in respect of the following incidents (but only in respect of such incidents that relate to fires on mobile plant):

- an incident described in clause 128(5)(a) of the Regulation, being an event referred to in clause 179(a)(ii) of the Regulation—that is, an uncontrolled implosion, explosion or fire that would have been a dangerous incident if a person were reasonably in the vicinity at the time when the incident or event occurred and in usual circumstances a person could have been in that vicinity at that time (a high potential incident);
- an incident described in clause 128(5)(t) of the Regulation—that is, an uncontrolled fire on mobile plant that is in operation (whether operated directly, remotely or autonomously) (a high potential incident);
- an incident described in clause 179(a)(ii) of the Regulation—that is, an incident in relation to a workplace that exposes a worker or any other person to a serious risk to a person's health or safety emanating from an immediate or imminent exposure to an uncontrolled implosion, explosion or fire (a dangerous incident);
- an incident described in clause 179(b) of the Regulation—that is, a fire in the underground parts of a mine, including where the fire is in the form of an oxidation that releases heat and light (a dangerous incident).

Ancillary reports are a separate and additional requirement to the initial notification of the incident to the regulator. Ancillary reports must be completed and submitted to the regulator no later than 30 days after the incident was required to be notified to the regulator.

Mobile plant means any item of plant that is self-propelled and ordinarily under the direct control of an operator. This also includes items of plant that are capable of being directly operated but are being operated autonomously or under remote control. Mobile plant does not include transportable plant which is relocated to be operated such as generators, diesel pumps and lighting towers.

The information that must be included in the ancillary report is set out below:

1. Information about the mine where the incident occurred
2. Information about the particulars of the mobile plant
3. Information about the last inspection of the mobile plant
4. Information about the fire suppression system installed on the mobile plant
5. Information about the failure mode of the mobile plant components
6. Information about the fuel source of the fire on the mobile plant
7. Information about the heat source of the fire on the mobile plant
8. Information about the method used to extinguish the fire on the mobile plant
9. Information about any risk assessment/s undertaken in relation to the mobile plant
10. Recommendations for preventing the incident from reoccurring

11. A statement by a competent person certifying that:

- a. they have reviewed the content of the ancillary report; and
- b. to the best of their knowledge the information supplied in the ancillary report is true and correct in every particular.

Note In the case of a coal mine, the statement must be made by the person nominated to exercise the statutory function of the mechanical engineering manager or mechanical engineer at the mine. In all other cases, the statement must be made by a competent person (such as the person who develops and periodically reviews the mechanical engineering control plan).
